

THAW AGAIN EXAMINED BY THE ALIENISTS

Submits When Told Object Is to Prove Him Sane.

MOTHER URGED COURSE

Three Experts He Refused to See Some Days Ago Allowed to Visit Him To-day.

Persuaded after two visits of his mother to his cell, Harry K. Thaw submitted to an examination in the Tombs to-day by three alienists retained by his counsel. Mrs. Thaw had pleaded earnestly with her son, and finally won his consent, after he was convinced the examination was to determine his sanity and not to establish his insanity.

When the same commission visited the Tombs some days ago Thaw, in the hospital ward, refused to be examined and angrily demanded to be taken back to his cell.

Ever since his mother has been earnestly and patiently working to convince him that such a mental examination is the withdrawal of Mr. Harridge and other counsel and make the second appeal she has had with the lawyers retain to defend him. It is understood, however, that she made little progress until she urged it was not a question of proving him insane, but of proving his sanity.

The three doctors were Dr. B. D. Evans, Superintendent of the New Jersey State Hospital for the Insane at Morristown, N. J.; Dr. Christopher C. Deering, Chief of Staff in the same hospital, and Dr. Charles D. Warner, Superintendent of the New York State Hospital for the Insane at Binghamton. They were accompanied by A. R. Peabody, one of Thaw's counsel, and were also introduced to Dr. Maguire, the Tombs physician, present under prison rules, but who withdrew at the request of the commission.

Mrs. Thaw, who was with her husband, took her leave when told friends were waiting to see him. She seemed surprised when told the "friends" were doctors.

THE PICKET SOLD FOR PALTRY $1,500.

Former Winner of Brooklyn Handicap Goes to Billy Lakeland at Sale.

GRAVESEND RACE TRACK, Sept. 21.—Horses in training from various stables were sold at auction here to-day. The picket, a former Brooklyn Handicap winner, was knocked down to Billy Lakeland for $1,500. The sale follows:

The Picket, by Palesino—Voltaire, W. A. Clark, $1,500.
 Rose of Gold, by Top Gallant—G. Rose, W. A. Clark, $1,000.
 Van Trotter, by Alverscot—G. Rose, C. D. Reid, $500.
 MacArthur, by Rensselaer—Stately, W. B. Miller, $2,100.
 Bayonet, by Ornament—Stately, J. Stern, $1,100.
 Fantasia, by Calore—Phantom Belle, F. B. B. $1,400.
 Lady Bury, by St. Serf—Lady Mini, F. McCabe, $250.
 Star Lark, by Handicapper—Twitter, W. A. McKnight, $200.
 Duenna, by Hamburg—Rupert, F. McCabe, $1,100.
 Belle of Ormby, by Ormby—Santa Belle, Brown Leth—Rupert, $1,100.
 Rob Roy, by Sir Walter—Melody, T. F. Cies, $180.
 Bessy, by Albert—Misty, W. D. Millard, $900.
 Mollie Donohue, by Tansmeyer—First Land, F. Hynes, $400.
 Sadie, by Woulthorpe—Enough, J. T. Muir, $325.
 Riggs, by First Mate—The Crow, Bonnie Brook, $400.
 Presidential Girl, by Kinley Mark—Hail Mail, B. Scheller, $1,000.

AGAIN TRY TO ROB HOME OF MRS. WOLFE.

Boys Break Into Her Fifth Avenue House a Second Time in Two Months.

For the second time in two months the residence of Mrs. Sarah C. Wolfe, at No. 104 Fifth avenue, was this afternoon entered by small boys bent on plunder.

As in the former instance, the boys set off the burglar alarm. Special Patrolmen Hagan and Lang ran around to the house in double quick time and were fumbling at the front door when four small boys climbed through the basement window and started down the stairs. Lang and Hagan gave chase and caught two of the boys at the Mercer street police station, where they gave their names as Joseph Hagan, thirteen years old, of No. 35 Carmine street, and Louis Eiland, fourteen years old, of No. 6 Carmine street. They were locked up.

MAKE BOTH ENDS MEET!

Sunday World Help Wants bring the two ends of Prosperity together—
The Employer and the Employee!

FIGHTERS AT BUFFALO ALL NIGHT AT THE HOTEL

Democratic Battle Will Be Waged About Iroquois.

As an advance guard of the delegation of Tammany Hall, Charles F. Murphy left the city this morning for Buffalo. District Attorney Jerome also left the city, and has engaged headquarters in the Iroquois Hotel, Buffalo. Mayor McClellan will leave to-morrow, and by Monday all the big wigs of the Democratic party in the State will be quartered within hailing distance in the convention city.

The suite of rooms assigned to the leader of Tammany are near those of District Attorney Jerome. Mayor McClellan is across the hall, and on the same floor are the Sulzer headquarters. The Hearst boomers have headquarters in the same hotel, so that the family fight will be interesting and confined to a small area, unless it spreads to the convention proper.

"Anything to beat Hearst?" is the cry of the opposition to him, and as it is generally admitted that if Charles F. Murphy can swing the 105 delegates of Tammany Hall under the unit rule, he will be the dominant figure at Buffalo.

Murphy Oath to Hearst. Those who have talked with Murphy, and claim to be in a position to know, say that his feelings toward Hearst have grown much colder than they were a week ago.

For this reason, it is said, Murphy is now planning another Foran-Grover move, only in this case he is said to want only one nominee of the Independence League. The latest candidate to be rubbed softly by the fur of the tiger, and to listen to its purr, is Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler, the nominee of the Hearst Party for Lieutenant-Governor. Chanler is a delegate to the Democratic convention, and Murphy, at last accounts, is said to be thinking kindly of Chanler.

Hearst's Hidden Card. As a counter-move to this, the Hearst faction has a card up its sleeve that has not been overlooked by the most sanguine of Tammany men, and particularly those who live in close districts. It is said that unless Murphy accepts Hearst, the Independence League will place a candidate in every Assembly and Senate district in the greater city. With the lesson of a year ago, when Hearst received 125,000 votes, before then, Tammany leaders who desire the election of their Assemblymen and Senators feel that in saving the Tammany members of the Legislature, Murphy may be acting wisely if at the last minute he ties up with Hearst and makes a deal whereby Tammany takes the Legislature and the majority of the Judgeships and lets it go at that.

Eleven judges are to be elected, with terms of office for fourteen years at $15,000 a year. This alone, many Tammany men believe, is worth making the sacrifice for.

"Big Tim" Sullivan is one of the leaders of Tammany who are out in opposition to Hearst. Sullivan at the Gravesend race track yesterday offered to bet $50,000 at odds of 5 to 1 that Hearst will not be nominated at Buffalo. The odds of the race track of Tammany Hall that will leave for Buffalo to-morrow were announced to-day as follows: By the Erie Railroad, $3.50 A. M. in charge of Peter J. Dooling, with the following Assembly district leaders and delegations: F. J. Goodwin, F. J. McManus, John F. Curry, James J. Hagan, M. F. Donohue and Charles Hand. Hand, who is in charge of the Erie Railroad, the first train, in charge of "Little" Tim Sullivan, will leave at 3.30 A. M. with delegations of Leaders D. E. Finn, Thomas F. Foley, Timothy P. Sullivan, Charles W. Galvin, J. J. Sullivan, John J. Conroy, Harry. Second train leaves a few minutes later, in charge of John F. Ahearn, and will carry the delegations of district leaders John F. Ahearn, Patrick Keenan, G. P. Scannell and Joseph Prendergast.

The first train from the Grand Central station at 8.30, in charge of Maurice Featherston, Thomas F. McAvoy, James J. Martin, Second train leaves Forty-second street at 4.45 A. M., in charge of Eugene J. McGuire, and will carry the delegations of district leaders J. Walsh, N. J. Hayes, J. F. Cowan, Wallace S. Fraser, Peter A. Hendrick, E. J. McGuire, Thomas J. O'Neill, M. J. Garvin, Arthur H. Murphy and W. E. Morris.

Third train will leave the foot of West Street at 5.30 A. M. in charge of Thomas E. Rush, and will carry the delegations and following leaders: J. J. Sullivan, John J. Conroy, Bart. Danu, William H. Sinnott, John J. Dietz, J. J. Frawley and Thomas E. Rush.

BANK STATEMENT SHOWS UNEXPECTED GAINS.

While Wall street looked for a good bank statement to-day, the Clearing House figures came out much better than the most optimistic predictions. Increases in cash, revenues and deposits were double what was forecasted and the surplus climbed to $1,240,000, a jump of $1,779,000 over last week. The report as issued was as follows:

Cash	$422,200
Revenues	$1,035,000
Deposits	$1,779,000
Surplus	$1,240,000
Total	$2,776,200

As compared with last week's figures, the increase was as follows:

Cash	$1,779,000
Revenues	$1,035,000
Deposits	$1,779,000
Surplus	$1,240,000
Total	$2,776,200

U. S. deposits, increase, $1,779,000.

HEARST EXECUTIVE IF NOT NAMED AT BUFFALO; BITTER AGAINST JEROME

In Written Interview for Evening World, He Says District-Attorney's Professions Are Meaningless—Declares Sulzer Is Only Tim Sullivan's Man—A Word for Mack.

Questions by The Evening World. Answers Written by Mr. Hearst.

Can you reconcile the present attitude of Norman E. Mack with his attitude prior to the convention of the Independence League when he wrote in an open letter that nothing could prevent your nomination for Governor by the Democratic party?

No. Creak Mr. Ryan or Mr. Belmont.

Mack stated in his letter that the Independence League nominations would have no legal status and would not be binding, hence you could be nominated by the Democratic organization. Do you so regard the situation?

The convention named the candidates. They will be legally nominated as soon as fifty names in each county have been secured on the petitions.

What is the secret of Jerome's systematic attack upon you? There is no secret in Jerome's attitude. It is a matter of public notoriety and shame. As Jerome promises are worthless his professions are meaningless.

If the Democrats nominate a man other than yourself will you expect to win? I expect to win as the representative of typical American citizens in favor of typical American government.

Do you regard Congressman Sulzer as a convention possibility? I regard him as Tim Sullivan's man.

Could he win if nominated? Not unless the people want Tim Sullivan in control at Albany.

It has been reported that in the event of Justice Gaylor being nominated you would withdraw. I will not withdraw under any circumstances. I shall remain in this campaign and I shall continue the struggle now and here after until the cause of honest government and American government has triumphed.

Will you have headquarters in Buffalo? No. Only newspaper offices.

Will you have headquarters in Buffalo? No. Only newspaper offices.

Will you have headquarters in Buffalo? No. Only newspaper offices.

Will you have headquarters in Buffalo? No. Only newspaper offices.

Will you have headquarters in Buffalo? No. Only newspaper offices.

Will you have headquarters in Buffalo? No. Only newspaper offices.

Will you have headquarters in Buffalo? No. Only newspaper offices.

Will you have headquarters in Buffalo? No. Only newspaper offices.

Will you have headquarters in Buffalo? No. Only newspaper offices.

PISISSA LLS BABE; FIRE ADDS TO MYSTERY

Prussic Acid in Peach Caused Death of Winship Child.

BREWSTER, N. Y., Sept. 22.—A mysterious case of poisoning which resulted in the death of a two-year-old son of Herbert Winship, following a series of incendiary fires on the Winship farm, led Coroner Mitchell to call on the county authorities to-day to assist him in unravelling the case.

Herbert Winship, who is a wealthy farmer, has lived for many years at Cole's Corners. The members of his household were his wife and three sons, aged fifteen, nine and two years old respectively, and Jennie Birch, a fourteen-year-old girl, who has been with the family for three years as a helper to Mrs. Winship.

A few days ago Mr. Winship went to Otsego on business. The day after he left his cow stables and barn were burned to the ground. The next day some one attempted to burn the house. Six attempts were made throughout the day. One fire was discovered in a closet, one in a bed ticking in an upper part of the house, and another blaze started in a trunk in the garret. Jennie Birch discovered most of the fires, and gave the alarm.

Jennie Birch yesterday came in from the yard with a peach, which she said she had just picked from a tree in the orchard. Harry Washington Winship, ten years old, asked for the fruit, and Jennie peeled it and gave him a portion, keeping part for herself.

The child had barely swallowed his first bite of the peach when he fell to the floor in violent convulsions. Jennie immediately began to complain of a pain in the stomach, and she, too, fell to the floor, and her body bent backward like a bow, her head and heels almost touching.

Dr. Birdsal, of Paterson, N. Y., was summoned by telephone. He found both children in convulsions, with all the symptoms of strychnine poisoning. Dr. Haviland was called in to assist, and both physicians worked for hours. The boy died, but by heroic treatment the girl's life was saved, and she is practically well to-day.

To Analyze the Peach. When Dr. Birdsal was told of the mysterious fires that preceded the poisoning incident he notified Coroner Mitchell, who immediately performed an autopsy. Though both physicians agreed that the children showed unmistakable symptoms of strychnine poisoning, nothing was found in the boy's stomach to substantiate their diagnosis.

The coroner gave Dr. Birdsal what was left of the peach for chemical analysis. The mystery is complicated by the outcome of the autopsy. If strychnine had been placed on the peach before it was handed to the child, some trace of it would have shown in the child's stomach. There are traces of prussic acid, the base of strychnine, in peaches, but it is not on record that any peach that ever grew contained enough of the poison in its fruit fruit to cause death.

The mystery is complicated by the outcome of the autopsy. If strychnine had been placed on the peach before it was handed to the child, some trace of it would have shown in the child's stomach. There are traces of prussic acid, the base of strychnine, in peaches, but it is not on record that any peach that ever grew contained enough of the poison in its fruit fruit to cause death.

The mystery is complicated by the outcome of the autopsy. If strychnine had been placed on the peach before it was handed to the child, some trace of it would have shown in the child's stomach. There are traces of prussic acid, the base of strychnine, in peaches, but it is not on record that any peach that ever grew contained enough of the poison in its fruit fruit to cause death.

The mystery is complicated by the outcome of the autopsy. If strychnine had been placed on the peach before it was handed to the child, some trace of it would have shown in the child's stomach. There are traces of prussic acid, the base of strychnine, in peaches, but it is not on record that any peach that ever grew contained enough of the poison in its fruit fruit to cause death.

The mystery is complicated by the outcome of the autopsy. If strychnine had been placed on the peach before it was handed to the child, some trace of it would have shown in the child's stomach. There are traces of prussic acid, the base of strychnine, in peaches, but it is not on record that any peach that ever grew contained enough of the poison in its fruit fruit to cause death.

The mystery is complicated by the outcome of the autopsy. If strychnine had been placed on the peach before it was handed to the child, some trace of it would have shown in the child's stomach. There are traces of prussic acid, the base of strychnine, in peaches, but it is not on record that any peach that ever grew contained enough of the poison in its fruit fruit to cause death.

The mystery is complicated by the outcome of the autopsy. If strychnine had been placed on the peach before it was handed to the child, some trace of it would have shown in the child's stomach. There are traces of prussic acid, the base of strychnine, in peaches, but it is not on record that any peach that ever grew contained enough of the poison in its fruit fruit to cause death.

The mystery is complicated by the outcome of the autopsy. If strychnine had been placed on the peach before it was handed to the child, some trace of it would have shown in the child's stomach. There are traces of prussic acid, the base of strychnine, in peaches, but it is not on record that any peach that ever grew contained enough of the poison in its fruit fruit to cause death.

The mystery is complicated by the outcome of the autopsy. If strychnine had been placed on the peach before it was handed to the child, some trace of it would have shown in the child's stomach. There are traces of prussic acid, the base of strychnine, in peaches, but it is not on record that any peach that ever grew contained enough of the poison in its fruit fruit to cause death.

The mystery is complicated by the outcome of the autopsy. If strychnine had been placed on the peach before it was handed to the child, some trace of it would have shown in the child's stomach. There are traces of prussic acid, the base of strychnine, in peaches, but it is not on record that any peach that ever grew contained enough of the poison in its fruit fruit to cause death.

The mystery is complicated by the outcome of the autopsy. If strychnine had been placed on the peach before it was handed to the child, some trace of it would have shown in the child's stomach. There are traces of prussic acid, the base of strychnine, in peaches, but it is not on record that any peach that ever grew contained enough of the poison in its fruit fruit to cause death.

The mystery is complicated by the outcome of the autopsy. If strychnine had been placed on the peach before it was handed to the child, some trace of it would have shown in the child's stomach. There are traces of prussic acid, the base of strychnine, in peaches, but it is not on record that any peach that ever grew contained enough of the poison in its fruit fruit to cause death.

The mystery is complicated by the outcome of the autopsy. If strychnine had been placed on the peach before it was handed to the child, some trace of it would have shown in the child's stomach. There are traces of prussic acid, the base of strychnine, in peaches, but it is not on record that any peach that ever grew contained enough of the poison in its fruit fruit to cause death.

CONEY'S REVEALS PROMISE GRAND FEMALE TO-NIGHT

Fireworks to Make "Isle of Joy" Brightest Spot on Earth.

Now, all together! The last round and windup of the weak's Mardi Gras and Fall Festival at Coney Island began this forenoon, and will end some time between midnight and Sunday breakfast. It has been the most notable carnival ever celebrated in the world.

The attendance beginning with more than a quarter of a million persons on pleasure bent, the number has increased each night, and it is anticipated that more than 600,000 will try to get a footing on the sands of America's most famous pleasure resort to-night.

The abandon of all the mighty hosts that have swarmed upon Coney during the Mardi Gras has been complete, and even when the rain came, just after the parade last evening, it dampened the enthusiasm of no one, but was seized upon as just one more carnival joy. Confetti, wet, is more alluring than when it is dry, and a wet tickler is even more of a laugh-producer than a dry one, while the scampering young women, with their skirts gathered near, was a never ending source of glee to the young men.

Olympian Games in Picture. At Economou Bros' Saratoga Inn moving-picture show, to which Herman Raub, King of the Mardi Gras, and Queen Prospera have been invited by Manager Charles L. Milligan, there will be the first presentation of the Olympian games at Athens in which the Irish-American athletes won the world's championships last spring. The picture is three-fifths of a mile long. John Economou has succeeded in getting it out of the clutches of Uncle Sam's customs officials at last. A new one, picturing the story of Kathleen Mavourneen, will also be put on, and a reproduction of The Evening World's cut showing the portrait of Herman Raub, winner of the popular election for King of the Mardi Gras, and his three near competitors, one of whom was Mr. Economou.

After the parade last night King Herman entertained a host of friends at his headquarters in Fred Kistler's Hotel, next to Luna Park, and it was so near breakfast time when they were done that it was decided that an auto ride to Minerva would be the best thing to do. Mr. Raub, Miss Kreyer, his play Queen, Mrs. Raub, the Queen of the beach, and a crowd of friends, including Mr. Raub's sweet-faced mother, Queen Dowager of the household, set out for the ride. The Minerva race track cheers from their friends at J. A. M.

After the parade last night King Herman entertained a host of friends at his headquarters in Fred Kistler's Hotel, next to Luna Park, and it was so near breakfast time when they were done that it was decided that an auto ride to Minerva would be the best thing to do. Mr. Raub, Miss Kreyer, his play Queen, Mrs. Raub, the Queen of the beach, and a crowd of friends, including Mr. Raub's sweet-faced mother, Queen Dowager of the household, set out for the ride. The Minerva race track cheers from their friends at J. A. M.

After the parade last night King Herman entertained a host of friends at his headquarters in Fred Kistler's Hotel, next to Luna Park, and it was so near breakfast time when they were done that it was decided that an auto ride to Minerva would be the best thing to do. Mr. Raub, Miss Kreyer, his play Queen, Mrs. Raub, the Queen of the beach, and a crowd of friends, including Mr. Raub's sweet-faced mother, Queen Dowager of the household, set out for the ride. The Minerva race track cheers from their friends at J. A. M.

After the parade last night King Herman entertained a host of friends at his headquarters in Fred Kistler's Hotel, next to Luna Park, and it was so near breakfast time when they were done that it was decided that an auto ride to Minerva would be the best thing to do. Mr. Raub, Miss Kreyer, his play Queen, Mrs. Raub, the Queen of the beach, and a crowd of friends, including Mr. Raub's sweet-faced mother, Queen Dowager of the household, set out for the ride. The Minerva race track cheers from their friends at J. A. M.

After the parade last night King Herman entertained a host of friends at his headquarters in Fred Kistler's Hotel, next to Luna Park, and it was so near breakfast time when they were done that it was decided that an auto ride to Minerva would be the best thing to do. Mr. Raub, Miss Kreyer, his play Queen, Mrs. Raub, the Queen of the beach, and a crowd of friends, including Mr. Raub's sweet-faced mother, Queen Dowager of the household, set out for the ride. The Minerva race track cheers from their friends at J. A. M.

After the parade last night King Herman entertained a host of friends at his headquarters in Fred Kistler's Hotel, next to Luna Park, and it was so near breakfast time when they were done that it was decided that an auto ride to Minerva would be the best thing to do. Mr. Raub, Miss Kreyer, his play Queen, Mrs. Raub, the Queen of the beach, and a crowd of friends, including Mr. Raub's sweet-faced mother, Queen Dowager of the household, set out for the ride. The Minerva race track cheers from their friends at J. A. M.

After the parade last night King Herman entertained a host of friends at his headquarters in Fred Kistler's Hotel, next to Luna Park, and it was so near breakfast time when they were done that it was decided that an auto ride to Minerva would be the best thing to do. Mr. Raub, Miss Kreyer, his play Queen, Mrs. Raub, the Queen of the beach, and a crowd of friends, including Mr. Raub's sweet-faced mother, Queen Dowager of the household, set out for the ride. The Minerva race track cheers from their friends at J. A. M.

After the parade last night King Herman entertained a host of friends at his headquarters in Fred Kistler's Hotel, next to Luna Park, and it was so near breakfast time when they were done that it was decided that an auto ride to Minerva would be the best thing to do. Mr. Raub, Miss Kreyer, his play Queen, Mrs. Raub, the Queen of the beach, and a crowd of friends, including Mr. Raub's sweet-faced mother, Queen Dowager of the household, set out for the ride. The Minerva race track cheers from their friends at J. A. M.

After the parade last night King Herman entertained a host of friends at his headquarters in Fred Kistler's Hotel, next to Luna Park, and it was so near breakfast time when they were done that it was decided that an auto ride to Minerva would be the best thing to do. Mr. Raub, Miss Kreyer, his play Queen, Mrs. Raub, the Queen of the beach, and a crowd of friends, including Mr. Raub's sweet-faced mother, Queen Dowager of the household, set out for the ride. The Minerva race track cheers from their friends at J. A. M.

After the parade last night King Herman entertained a host of friends at his headquarters in Fred Kistler's Hotel, next to Luna Park, and it was so near breakfast time when they were done that it was decided that an auto ride to Minerva would be the best thing to do. Mr. Raub, Miss Kreyer, his play Queen, Mrs. Raub, the Queen of the beach, and a crowd of friends, including Mr. Raub's sweet-faced mother, Queen Dowager of the household, set out for the ride. The Minerva race track cheers from their friends at J. A. M.

After the parade last night King Herman entertained a host of friends at his headquarters in Fred Kistler's Hotel, next to Luna Park, and it was so near breakfast time when they were done that it was decided that an auto ride to Minerva would be the best thing to do. Mr. Raub, Miss Kreyer, his play Queen, Mrs. Raub, the Queen of the beach, and a crowd of friends, including Mr. Raub's sweet-faced mother, Queen Dowager of the household, set out for the ride. The Minerva race track cheers from their friends at J. A. M.

After the parade last night King Herman entertained a host of friends at his headquarters in Fred Kistler's Hotel, next to Luna Park, and it was so near breakfast time when they were done that it was decided that an auto ride to Minerva would be the best thing to do. Mr. Raub, Miss Kreyer, his play Queen, Mrs. Raub, the Queen of the beach, and a crowd of friends, including Mr. Raub's sweet-faced mother, Queen Dowager of the household, set out for the ride. The Minerva race track cheers from their friends at J. A. M.

After the parade last night King Herman entertained a host of friends at his headquarters in Fred Kistler's Hotel, next to Luna Park, and it was so near breakfast time when they were done that it was decided that an auto ride to Minerva would be the best thing to do. Mr. Raub, Miss Kreyer, his play Queen, Mrs. Raub, the Queen of the beach, and a crowd of friends, including Mr. Raub's sweet-faced mother, Queen Dowager of the household, set out for the ride. The Minerva race track cheers from their friends at J. A. M.

After the parade last night King Herman entertained a host of friends at his headquarters in Fred Kistler's Hotel, next to Luna Park, and it was so near breakfast time when they were done that it was decided that an auto ride to Minerva would be the best thing to do. Mr. Raub, Miss Kreyer, his play Queen, Mrs. Raub, the Queen of the beach, and a crowd of friends, including Mr. Raub's sweet-faced mother, Queen Dowager of the household, set out for the ride. The Minerva race track cheers from their friends at J. A. M.

BURNING OF THE Big Ship

NOW IN FRONT OF
GEO. C.
TILYOU'S
Steeplechase
Park
CONEY ISLAND

IMMEDIATELY AFTER
Mardi Gras
PARADE
TO-NIGHT

As a fitting wind-up to a most prosperous season for grand old Steeplechase, and in celebration of the Funny Place having had a greater public patronage than all the other amusement resorts of Coney Island combined.

To-night will witness one of the most extraordinary spectacles ever presented to the public gaze in the destruction by fire of a great ship in all its majestic splendor, forming mountains of flame, illuminating old Neptune for miles around, and terminating a season of jolly revelry and rollicking fun in a real blaze of glory.

Capt. Paul Boyton, the crowned king of the world's most famous navigators, has kindly consented to command the vessel on this her last voyage.

Capt. Paul Boyton, the crowned king of the world's most famous navigators, has kindly consented to command the vessel on this her last voyage.

Capt. Paul Boyton, the crowned king of the world's most famous navigators, has kindly consented to command the vessel on this her last voyage.

Capt. Paul Boyton, the crowned king of the world's most famous navigators, has kindly consented to command the vessel on this her last voyage.

Capt. Paul Boyton, the crowned king of the world's most famous navigators, has kindly consented to command the vessel on this her last voyage.

Capt. Paul Boyton, the crowned king of the world's most famous navigators, has kindly consented to command the vessel on this her last voyage.

Capt. Paul Boyton, the crowned king of the world's most famous navigators, has kindly consented to command the vessel on this her last voyage.

Capt. Paul Boyton, the crowned king of the world's most famous navigators, has kindly consented to command the vessel on this her last voyage.

Capt. Paul Boyton, the crowned king of the world's most famous navigators, has kindly consented to command the vessel on this her last voyage.

Capt. Paul Boyton, the crowned king of the world's most famous navigators, has kindly consented to command the vessel on this her last voyage.

Capt. Paul Boyton, the crowned king of the world's most famous navigators, has kindly consented to command the vessel on this her last voyage.

Capt. Paul Boyton, the crowned king of the world's most famous navigators, has kindly consented to command the vessel on this her last voyage.

Capt. Paul Boyton, the crowned king of the world's most famous navigators, has kindly consented to command the vessel on this her last voyage.

Capt. Paul Boyton, the crowned king of the world's most famous navigators, has kindly consented to command the vessel on this her last voyage.

Capt. Paul Boyton, the crowned king of the world's most famous navigators, has kindly consented to command the vessel on this her last voyage.

Capt. Paul Boyton, the crowned king of the world's most famous navigators, has kindly consented to command the vessel on this her last voyage.

Capt. Paul Boyton, the crowned king of the world's most famous navigators, has kindly consented to command the vessel on this her last voyage.

HAS HIS BROTHER'S WIDOW ARRESTED

Matt. Grau Charges Her with Perjury in Claiming to Have Married Jules Grau.

Mrs. Lillian Grau, widow of the late impresario, Jules Grau, was arrested to-day at her home, No. 5 Sylvan Terrace, by Detective Birmingham, of the West Side Court, on the complaint of her brother-in-law, Matt. Grau, theatrical agent, of No. 165 West One Hundred and Eighty-third street. He charges her with perjury.

With Mrs. Grau at the time of her arrest was her lawyer, Florence J. Sullivan, of No. 246 Broadway, and he went with her to the court. Magistrate Wahl adjourned the hearing until